

PARTICIPATE

in experiments,

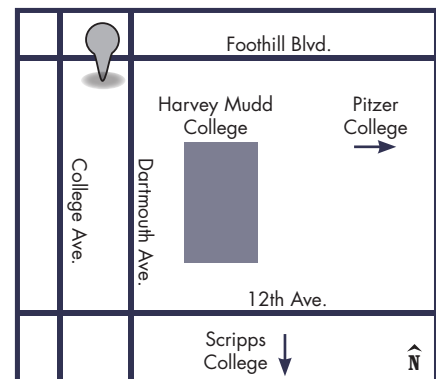

EARN CASH!

The Center for Neuroeconomics Studies is a research laboratory at the Claremont Colleges that studies how people make decisions. Our research uses a range of methods from neuroscience, economics, and psychology.

Each study is unique and your participation time may range from 30 minutes to 2 hours. Compensation depends on the length of the study, methods, and the decisions you make and ranges between $15 and $100.

Register at [cns.cgu.edu/
recruit](https://cns.cgu.edu/recruit)

to learn more about upcoming studies
and participate.

The lab is on the southwest corner of Foothill and Dartmouth.

We study
life.

e: info@neuroeconomicstudies.org | p: 909.607.0030
1263 North Dartmouth Ave., Claremont, CA 91711
neuroeconomicstudies.org

REGISTER TODAY AT

cns.cgu.edu/recruit

